

Uptown Spring Display Pleased Large Crowds

Judges Award First Prize for Best Window to E. Winter's Sons—Open Air Automobile Show Proved Big Drawing Card.

Again the value of cooperation between merchants was demonstrated when on Thursday evening the Uptown Merchants Business Men's Association held its annual Spring Display. Threatening weather failed to keep away the crowds which began to appear on the streets long before 7:30 o'clock, the time set for the unveiling of the windows. Today the merchants are well pleased with the success of the event, which was probably the most successful of its kind that the merchants have ever put on.

Participating with the merchants in the Spring Dress-Up Week display were many of the members of the Kingston Automotive Dealers' Association, who held an open air automobile show on Wall and North Front streets. This feature alone was a big drawing card and the show of cars would have been even larger had not the uncertain weather prevented.

Promptly at 7:30 three taps on the fire alarm system was the signal to drop the curtains from the windows which had been screened from the public view during the day. As the curtains were dropped there was presented a scene of splendor all along the streets. Brilliant lights flashed up and the public was treated to one of the finest window display contests which Kingston has ever witnessed.

The judges who were to select the winning window found they had a real job on their hands and it was not until they had viewed every window between 7:30 and 9:45 that they realized what a big task they had undertaken. All windows were judged for lighting, effect, beauty, drawing power, arrangement and color scheme. When the tour had been completed the judges found there still remained a task to perform, that of selecting the winning window. This work kept them busy until after 11 o'clock tabulating the scores and making a decision. Many of the scores were found to be so close that there was a real problem to select the winner and it took considerable mathematical figuring to finally arrive at a decision.

E. Winter's Sons Win.

The judges who viewed the windows and made the award was Miss Barbara Baum, local Catholic Charities agent; Miss Nance of the Home Bureau, Sam Ribber of the Downtown Merchants' Association; J. Edward Conway of the Central Business Men's Association, and Chester R. Hall, Boys' Work director of the Y. M. C. A. After a long session at the Syracuse Hotel, the judges finally awarded first prize to E. Winter's Sons.

Those receiving honorable mention and entitled to special mention were:

Burgevin, Inc., Safford & Scudder, Up-to-Date Company, S. Cohen's, Sons, Rose and Gorman and Charles A. Warren.

The winning windows of E. Winter's Sons present two very attractive pictures. In one window is a display of musical instruments while in the other is a very artistic and carefully executed picture. It represents by a large doll a child in a very complete furnished garden surrounded by flowers. In the background is an arbor underneath which rests the doll carriage and the whole picture is being taken in and recorded by a camera which stands in the foreground on the path. Around the gravel path is a border of red geraniums and other flowers are a part of the picture. The detail of the entire window is amazing.

Streets Crowded

During the evening the streets were well crowded with visitors who passed from store to store to look at the merchandise offered and at the unusually pretty windows.

Traffic arrangements during the evening were all that could be desired and the committee in charge of the affair extends its appreciation to Chief Wood for the manner in which the situation was handled. During the evening from 15 to 20 policemen were on duty handling traffic and several boys assisted the department at lesser congested points. The merchants desire to express their appreciation for this work.

Uncertain weather undoubtedly prevented many from viewing the display but in spite of the weather the crowd was equally as large as at any other similar event ever held.

To attempt to describe any of the windows in cold type would be unjust. There is but one way to know what the merchants have provided and that is to see the windows, many of which will remain for the public inspection for several days. Those who were prevented Thursday evening should avail themselves of the opportunity at their earliest convenience.

Morris Samter Awarded $795

For Damages to His Studebaker Sustained While It Was Parked in Front of His Home—Must File Amended Answer to Libel Charge

Morris Samter was awarded a verdict in the sum of $795, the amount sued for, against Merrick H. and Smith Bellows. The case was tried in supreme court and was sent to the jury Thursday afternoon. Samter sought to recover for damages to his car, sustained while it was parked at the curb in front of his home. The Bellows car and a car of Mr. Schiller of Poughkeepsie were in collision, the latter claiming the accident was due to Schiller pulling out into traffic without warning. The Schiller car was driven against the Samter car and damages ensued. John W. Eckert appeared for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant. The jury handed up a sealed verdict at the opening of court this morning.

A verdict of no cause of action was handed up in an action brought by Samuel Halperin against Max Feldman and Jacob Beck. Halperin who conducts a shoe repair mill and lumber mill at Monticello sued to recover $250 balance due for a cottage which he alleged he leased to defendants. Defendants paid $100 at the time of the contract and testified that plaintiff agreed to supply water and electricity to them during the summer months while they were in the country. They allege they failed to do so and that they very frequently had no water or no lights. Plaintiff claims he told them when they leased the place that there might be times when the water works system and lighting plant would be out of order. LeRoy Lounsbury appeared for plaintiff and Cleon B. Murray for defendants.

A negligence action brought by Vincent Spera against Edward M. Anderson, Jr., was announced as settled. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for plaintiff and Harold W. Turner for defendant.

Libel Action Taken Up.

This morning No. 232, Daniel H. DeGraft against Myhem H. Rhodes, an action or libel, was moved for trial. The action grows out of the writing and publishing of a letter by defendant in which an attack was made on plaintiff. The action was brought to recover $5,000.

Before a jury was taken M. O. Auchmoody, who appeared for the plaintiff, moved to strike out the answer of defendant on the ground that it failed to comply with the libel law in regard to stating a defense. The writing of the letter and its publication were admitted by the defendant in his answer but he alleged that the statements made were true. This under the law was not sufficient ground for a defense and Judge Staley granted the motion of plaintiff and allowed the defendant ten days to file an amended answer. In the event the defendant does not avail himself of this privilege judgments will be taken on pleadings. Plaintiff will also be permitted to amend the complaint if advisable and in the event the defendant will have ten days to file his answer to the amended complaint. A. W. Lent appeared for defendant.

The action grows out of a charge, according to the pleadings, that a letter was written and mailed by defendant, which libeled the plaintiff, for which libel plaintiff seeks to recover $5,000 damages. Fence hurdles are the topic of discussion in the letter.

With the libel action disposed of there was no further work ready and court recessed until Monday. At that time the day calendar will be taken up and disposed of as the cases are reached. There will be no further additions to the day calendar at this term and next week will close the court. It will be the fourth week of court.

The cases now on the calendar are Nos. 31442, 85, 384, 283, 43, 167, 264, 335, 265, 266 and 171.

Case Put Over To Monday

Counsel for plaintiff in No. 31442, William R. Garrison against the Paramount Bus Corporation, requested that the case be given immediate trial. It has been on the day calendar for several days but owing to the engagement of Judge William D. Cunningham in court at White Plains has been continued. Counsel for plaintiff objected to an affidavit filed with the court by defendant's attorney stating that he was engaged in court at White Plains and could not be in court today. He argued that the case there had been concluded Thursday afternoon and Judge Cunningham could be in court today and commence trial. The case was put over to Monday, when it became apparent that Judge Cunningham would be compelled to be in court at White Plains this morning, by direction of the court.

This case involves the right of the defendant company to operate a bus line from Greene county to New York and is brought to make permanent a temporary injunction restraining the operation of a line on the grounds that the corporation has no permission from the Public Service Commission or the consent of towns and villages through which it operates to run a bus line.

Judge Staley directed that the cases now on the day calendar be taken up for trial as they are reached and in the order in which they appear on the calendar.

Dr. Connelly Died Thursday

City Health Officer Seized With Heart Attack at Health Board Office Week Ago—Long Prominent in Medical Circles in City—Became Health Officer in 1923.

Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, died at his home, No. 147 Henry street, Thursday evening following a heart attack on Thursday, March 15, at the board of health office in the Central Fire Station. Dr. Connelly was appointed health officer on June 10, 1923, under the Crane administration, to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Frank A. Johnston, who had resigned, and has served continuously since that time. Funeral services will be held from the late residence on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Wiltwyck Cemetery. Dr. Connelly is survived by his wife, two sisters, Mrs. Fred Miner of Cairo, N. Y., and Mrs. John Butts of Garfield, N. J.

Thirty-seven years ago Dr. Connelly came to Kingston from Cairo, Greene county, and took over the practice of the late Dr. Jacob D. Terwilliger, and in a short time became widely known as a skillful and successful practitioner of medicine. Dr. Connelly since 1891 has maintained his home and office at 147 Henry street, and his practice grew rapidly.

Later he became an active member of the staff of the City of Kingston Hospital, performing both surgical and medical work, but for the past several years he had devoted himself mostly to the medical side of his practice.

Dr. Connelly succeeded Dr. Frank A. Johnston as city health officer when Dr. Johnston's resignation was accepted at the meeting of the board of health held on July 10, 1923, at which time Dr. Connelly was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Johnston.

As health officer Dr. Connelly became even more widely and favorably known and his work was so efficient that he was continued in office under the administration of the late Mayor Morris Block and under the present Dempsey administration. It was during the administration of Dr. Johnston as health officer that the work of immunizing children from diphtheria was taken up and Dr. Connelly continued the work and brought it to a high state of efficiency. Last summer Dr. Connelly planned to carry on the immunization work on an even larger scale than in the past and arranged for the use of the state armory where diphtheria clinics were held and over two thousand children immunized. So successful were the armory clinics that Dr. Connelly inaugurated the series of weekly clinics held every Monday afternoon at the board of health office in the Central Fire Station. As a result of the work of Dr. Connelly over four thousand children have been immunized from diphtheria in Kingston and the number of cases of the disease reported in Kingston has been negligible. Dr. Connelly was again planning to hold another series of clinics on a large scale this summer in the armory.

He attended the last meeting of the board of health on Tuesday evening, March 13, and outlined what had been done by the city to check the outbreak of rabies among dogs in the city. At that time he appeared to be in his usual good health.

A week ago Thursday he was at his office at the Central Fire Station at an early hour laying out his work for the day and at that time appeared to be in his usual health. Shortly after 9 o'clock that morning he was seized with a heart attack and refusing all offers of assistance he drove to his home in his car. He had no sooner reached home, however, than he was forced to take to his bed, and gradually grew weaker.

Kingston has been fortunate in having efficient health officers in the past, but it can safely be said that there were none who took more of an interest in the health work of the city than Dr. Connelly. He kept in touch with other health departments in cities in the state and it was always his purpose to place Kingston high on the list of the cities in the state for efficient health work.

Dr. Connelly was a man of genial personality and liked nothing better than to chat over health conditions with all who were interested in that phase of a city's activities. He was broad of the times and up-to-date in all methods of health work. He was a member of St. James M. E. Church, a fraternal he was a member of Franklin Lodge, Knights of Pythias and an active member of the Ulster County Medical Society.

In the death of Dr. Connelly the city has lost an efficient public official, a man who was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Daylight Saving Again This Year

McDonald Dies On the Gallows

For the Murder Last July of Adelaide Bouchard, Taxi Driver—Goes to His Death Quietly—Glad of Commutation Granted His Wife.

The raising of a black flag on the tower of the Valley Field Jail this morning signified that George McDonald, notorious confidence man, had paid with his life for the slaying last July of Adelaide Bouchard, Lachine taxi driver, for the robbery of $70.

During his last night there came a telegram to the prison from his 20-year-old wife, Doris Palmer McDonald, whom he had absolved of all blame in the murder and whose sentence of death was commuted Wednesday to life imprisonment. Tomorrow Mass and commutation will be offered, the message read, "and I will never cease to pray for you. May the Blessed Lady receive you at the gate of heaven."

"God bless her soul," murmured McDonald when he read the message only a few hours before he mounted the scaffold.

Sheriff Crippen, in charge of the execution, announced at 5 o'clock that the death sentence had been carried out at 4:50 a. m. Armed guards kept reporters away as searchlights glared.

After the sheriff made the announcement, the chief of provincial police at Valley Field said the announcement was premature.

Newspapermen who had been driven away once and had returned close to the walls stated that the trap had been sprung at 5:37 a. m. They reported hearing a priest say in a loud voice:

"Jesus, redeemer, have mercy on my soul."

McDonald's repetition of the words was inaudible to the listeners outside the walls. The black flag was hoisted at 6 a. m.

McDonald, apparently resigned to his fate from the time sentence was pronounced last December 17, spent his last night quietly. He was attended by a priest and before his march to the gallows was given absolution and last communion in the corridor of the jail. Officials said he went to his death quietly.

Parents Keep Dreary Vigil

His father, John McDonald, a baker in Sydney, N. S., and his mother, a resident of Portland, Maine, kept a dreary vigil during the night at a local hotel. After a separation of years, they were brought together by the plight of their son. They were permitted to visit with him briefly last night.

McDonald, who in a notorious career had left a trail of forged checks along New York's Broadway and in other cities in the United States and Canada, learned only after his arrival here yesterday morning from the jail at Montreal that his wife's life had been spared.

As he entered the prison he scanned the rows of cells, and asked, "Is Doris here?"

The chaplain, who had accompanied McDonald here from Montreal, told him of the commutation granted his wife.

"Well, I am glad of that," he said, and then turned to talk of others.

The body of Bouchard was found last July 17 in a water filled ditch near Huntington, Que. Death had been caused by four bullets fired from a .32 calibre pistol. He had been robbed of $70.

Later his taxicab was found in Montreal and a search, which extended to the United States, began for the slayers. Two men and a woman were known to have hired his limousine. One of the men and the woman later were identified as the McDonalds, but the other man was never identified nor arrested. The McDonalds were arrested in Butte, Mont., on August 11 and taken to Denver to await extradition to Canada.

Confession Incorrect

In Denver Doris made a confession, which later was repudiated by her lawyers, in which she took the blame for the killing, saying she shot Bouchard with a .22 calibre gun. A .32 calibre pistol was found on her husband.

Her lawyer, J. A. Leagault, said the confession was made under duress. He charged that she was told "come across kid, or we'll break your neck."

Her husband also declared the confession was incorrect, when on last Sunday, in an affidavit, he absolved his wife of any connection with the killing.

The couple was tried at Valley Field, the judicial district in which the crime took place, and sentenced to be hanged. The jury, however, entered a recommendation of mercy for Mrs. McDonald.

The killing of Bouchard followed a week of revelry in Montreal by the McDonalds and their companion. After making the rounds of the night clubs, hotels and road houses about the city, the couple hired Bouchard to take them across the border.

After slaying Bouchard, the trio drove the machine to the United States border at Trout River, N. Y., where they were refused admission. They returned to Montreal, abandoned the cab and began the flight which ended for the McDonalds at Butte.

The case attracted great attention in the United States and many pleas that the girl's life be spared were made.

It was found that she was the daughter of Mrs. Hazel Grieco of Chicago. Her parents had parted when she was young, however, and

Declares Smith Aids Scoundrels

Chairman Nye Answers Governor's Letter Declaring That Smith Was Giving Aid and Comfort To Every Scoundrel Whose Infamy Had Been Exposed.

Washington, March 23 (AP).—Answering the letter of Governor Smith of New York which condemned him for his remarks about the Governor in recent debate in the Senate, Chairman Nye of the oil committee today countered that Smith was giving aid and comfort to "every scoundrel whose infamy had been exposed."

This aid, Nye said, was through Smith's "seeking to undermine public confidence in the fairness and impartiality of the committee in the midst of this investigation."

Senator Nye, a Republican from North Dakota, disclaimed any attack on the Governor in the debate and wrote that he had "expressly stated that you were not in any way involved in the oil scandals now under investigation by the committee of which I am chairman."

"You need not concern yourself in the least as to the 'public humiliation' which you state your letter will bring down upon me," Nye continued. "I do not propose to be deterred in the performance of my political duty by abuse or criticism of my work from you or from anyone else."

Asserting that the resolution which brought about the oil investigation had been sponsored by Senate Republican independents the late Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and Senator Norris of Nebraska, Nye recalled that in the 1924 campaign Governor Smith supported "John W. Davis of the House of Morgan, after blocking the nomination of Senator Walsh as a compromise candidate at the convention of your party in New York city."

"Under these circumstances," he said, "it becomes you to accuse me, of partisan motives or conduct in the performance of my duties as an official, in a letter which, by the way, represents the first public condemnation, by yourself, of the oil scandals which has come to my notice."

"Might it be that your reluctance to speak out against these scandals sooner is attributable to the fact that Harry F. Sinclair was a member of your official family and had, as newspapers now report, contributed in 1918, when you were a successful candidate for Governor, to a Democratic committee in New York? This thought is merely suggested by your letter."

"I only regret that you have come fit to give aid and comfort to every scoundrel whose infamy has been exposed, by seeking to undermine public confidence in the fairness and impartiality of the committee, in the midst of its investigation. This is the status you now occupy, in my humble judgment, as the result of your unwarranted letter with what, ever 'public humiliation' it brings to yourself."

In the first part of his letter Senator Nye took up in detail the debate leading up to the questioning of him by Senator Robinson, Republican of Indiana. He said that the Indiana senator belonged to a faction of the Republican party "with which I have never been charged, until now and by you, with identifying myself."

TWO AUTOMOBILES IN COLLISION THURSDAY

Thursday an Essex car driven by Fred McDermott of 95 West O'Reilly street, and the Ford sedan of E. Gardner Clough of Woodstock, were in a collision at the intersection of Prince, East O'Reilly streets and Hasbrouck avenue. Both cars were turned over on their side, but no one was injured. Mr. and Mrs. Clough were in the Ford while Mr. McDermott had Leo Kriz of Saugerties and a four year old child with him in his car.

In respect to the minimum second degree murder sentence, the report noted that the new law makes it possible "for the court adequately to punish a person who shoots a policeman in cold blood, while such policeman is in performance of his duty to bring about apprehension of such an offender."

"The state not only owes ample protection to its police officers," stated the report, "but adequate punishment as a deterrent to the perpetration of such crimes."

Seize Truck and Alleged Beer

Joseph Smith is arrested by the Federal enforcement officials, who are stationed here, on a charge of transporting alleged beer of high power. The seizure was made on Broadway near McEntee street Thursday afternoon and the truck and eight half barrels of the alleged beer seized. The truck was towed for a time to different places and after a sample had been taken and tested the seizure and arrest followed. Louis Vizard came and claimed the truck stating he had loaned it to Smith. The Federal officers then placed Vizard under arrest for possession of alleged beer in violation of the law. The two were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly and pleaded not guilty and each were released from custody on bonds of $500 each to await a hearing on March 28, at 2 p. m.

State Crime Board Report

Commission Declares Future Work Lies in Ascertaining How to Correct Criminal Tendencies Rather Than to Decide Upon Methods of Punishment.

Albany, N. Y., March 23 (AP).—The future work of the New York state crime commission lies in the direction of ascertaining how to correct criminal tendencies in the youth rather than to decide upon methods of punishing the criminals, the commission declared in its annual report, made public today.

"Studies show that delinquency begins in childhood, increasing during adolescence, continues mounting and reaches its peak during the vigorous and adventurous years of young manhood," the report declared. Whether this tendency is because of biological, hereditary or environmental causes, has been fruitlessly discussed. Of more practical importance is the question of how to correct these tendencies.

In line with this policy, the commission, through its sub-commission in causes and effects of crime, during the past year made a study of the life histories of 145 men committed to penal institutions.

This inquiry covered a period of two months. Subsequently another study was made of a section of the borough of Manhattan reputed to have the greatest number of juvenile delinquents, while a third study was directed at the life histories of boys in New York city who were persistent truants five years ago.

That considerable good has come out of the work of the commission was the conclusion drawn by the commission from unqualified endorsement given by the courts to many of its recommendations and enactments. This was found to be true particularly with regard to proposals limiting the admission of bail.

"The number of professional criminals at large committing crime after crime," the commission said, "and paying for succeeding bail bonds, to which they were readily admitted, out of the proceeds of their nefarious operations, has strikingly decreased."

The report reviewed in detail the recommendations of the commission made early in the year, the majority of which were embodied in bills introduced in the Legislature, many of them being enacted into law.

Chief among the recommendations so enacted were those making the minimum sentence for second degree murder not less than 20 years, two bills aimed at receivers of stolen property and persons dealing in such material, and making jumping of bail in connection with an offense where a felony has been charged, another felony.

In respect to the minimum second degree murder sentence, the report noted that the new law makes it possible "for the court adequately to punish a person who shoots a policeman in cold blood, while such policeman is in performance of his duty to bring about apprehension of such an offender."

"The state not only owes ample protection to its police officers," stated the report, "but adequate punishment as a deterrent to the perpetration of such crimes."

Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, was honored Thursday evening by a visit from National Commander Edward L. Spafford. Commander Spafford was the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel given by the members of Kingston Post and a number of citizens including several members of the G. A. R. Only the capacity of the hotel dining room was responsible for the attendance being limited and many more would gladly have been present had there been room. Arrangements were first made to serve 200 dinners and this was later increased to 250 when the demand for tickets continued to come in.

Those who missed attending the dinner and meeting and listening to National Commander Spafford missed a real treat for Commander Spafford has the ability to talk in a most interesting manner, not of his own wonderful war record or of personal matters but of Legion matters and of what the Legion has done and can accomplish. Furthermore, he has the great virtue of brevity and set an example that was followed by the other speakers, so that the entire speaking program occupied less than an hour.

Commander Spafford was met at Poughkeepsie earlier in the day by a reception committee from the local for ex-service men at Beacon. The Poughkeepsie Legion was host to the National Commander at noon, after which a visit was paid to the hospital for ex-service men at Beacon. The party arrived in Kingston shortly before 6 o'clock and went directly to the Governor Clinton Hotel where the dinner was served at 7 o'clock.

After the invocation by the Rev. George L. Wither, chaplain of Kingston Post, American Legion, the following menu was served, preceding the speaking program:

- |                        |                                 |
|------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Fruit Cocktail Supreme | Mixed Olives                    |
| Celery Hearts          | Essence of Tomato               |
| Salad                  | Salad                           |
| Roast Mutton           | Spring Chicken                  |
| Raisin Dressing        | Cranberry Jelly                 |
| Mashed Potatoes        | June Peas                       |
| Rolls and Butter       | Hearts of Lettuce               |
| Russian Dressing       | Chocolate and Vanilla Ice Cream |
| Fancy Cakes            | Coffee                          |

The hotel dining room presented a pleasing spectacle for the ladies of the Auxiliary were present too and the varied colored gowns gave a touch of color to the assemblage.

Herman I. DuBois, chairman of the reception committee, presided and the first speaker was Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey. Mayor Dempsey in opening stated that his remarks would be very brief for he understood that there was a dance scheduled for 9 o'clock in honor of the National Commander and it was then 9:30 o'clock. He expressed his appreciation of what the American Legion had done for the city and in particular he mentioned the naturalization program which had been carried out so very successfully by the committee of the Legion having it in charge.

The reception given by the Post to the newly naturalized citizens, he said, was a tremendously big thing and the Legion had done a great service for the community. He also mentioned the Memorial Day program which is being planned by the Legion in connection with the city organizations for the proper observance of that day. This day, which means so much to everyone, he said, was to be observed in a fitting and dignified manner and he commended the Legion for its activities in bringing this about. Under the direction of competent and capable committees he was sure Memorial day would be observed as it should be. He thanked the Legion for its assistance and to Commander Spafford in behalf of the city of Kingston he said "come again."

John J. Bennett, Jr., state chairman of the American Legion Committee of New York, was the next speaker. He, too, said he would be brief, keeping in mind the dance which had been planned. However, he stopped long enough to pay a very glowing tribute to the local Post. He said that the word of the work being carried on by the Kingston Post had gone out to the State and National headquarters. Kingston Post was one of the most active Posts and its name had spread far and wide.

He then presented to the Post a Community Citation for the work done by the Legion in holding and conducting the reception to newly naturalized citizens. This work he said was a big one and he hoped Kingston Post would win this citation each year.

Post Commander C. J. Heiselman accepted the citation on behalf of

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Grace J. Austin.

Once upon a time, quite a number of years ago, Dame Fashion went to to see a friend.

and how she did apologize because she had on an exceedingly sensible looking pair of brown or black overalls. She was right in the middle of some sort of operation around her car. Dame Fashion, hastened to assure her that she had never seen her looking any nicer, and that she need not hesitate to make any sort of public appearance.

Since that time the pajama has doubled and trebled its sales, not only for powerful and comfortable night wearing, but also to take the place of the aforetime negligee robe. A year ago a woman who stayed for several weeks in a large hotel for women only in New York, which was quite a friendly place, declared that in all that time she saw only pajamas used as lounging robes.

But what—as our Celtic friends are supposed to say—what is this? Nine, ten, eleven o'clock in the morning, and still a lady in the kitchen in pajamas!

Is she lazy, very careless of her appearance? Not at all. She is supposed to be the best word in up-to-date dress in home wear for the kitchen. These pajamas may have been doctored in a bedroom, but that is entirely all they have to do with a bedroom—except as this pretty, probably-bridal housewife goes about putting all the rooms of the bungalow or apartment in spotless order.

This might be called an "ensemble pajama suit." With the trousers goes a sleeveless jumper, and over this a regular three-quarter length pajama coat. It is so very true that sometimes one wishes for no sleeves at all. In doing the various kinds of housework, while perhaps in the next ten minutes, long sleeves are more comfortable. Solid color—do have it quite gay—with bandings of plaid in the same material and body color—make most effective treatment, they say, for these "kitchen pajamas."

"Dame Fashion, before you quit, take a look at my pretty gold pencil."

Now Dame Fashion has a weakness for gold pencils since one of her chief treasures is a beautiful one, with a carapell set in the end of it, which her father picked up on a Virginia roadway during the Civil war as it lay right in the path of the regiment. But this time she was merrily fooled again, as she loves to be. The little gold dot in the end of this "pencil" proved to be a tiny lipstick, and the golden "pencil" when pressed, did not show a head, but poured out a bit of powder.

Dress Shirt Vestee Is Introduced for Summer

A smart new idea for southern and summer wear is this model which has a dress shirt vestee, designed after those worn by men, inserted on a frock of rayon.

Pastel Colors Favored for New Evening Gowns

It would seem that the vogue for evening gowns in either black or white is waning since many clients of Worth are ordering new evening frocks in pastel colors. Model gowns shown in black are often copied in pale blue, pink, lavender or beige, shown in white. For a prominent English debutante, Worth has recently made a dance frock in orange chiffon which is charming with a full skirt and uneven hemline, while for her mother a gown in pale pink was copied in a deeper peach color and embroidered in sequins of the same tone and beige crystals. For daytime wear, however, it is said at Worth's that black still predominates.

Colonial Patriot

Robert Morris, the first great American financier, was born on January 8, 1734, in England. He devoted all his talents to the cause of the colonies during the American Revolution and was one of the important factors in their success.

A PRESIDENT'S VACATION.

A dispatch from Washington says that President Coolidge is looking for a place to spend his vacation. In which he is not so very different from a good many of us. There are differences between the Chief Executive's vacation and ours. He may have greater opportunities for getting close to nature while remaining within the comforts of civilized life. The lodges and ranches and country places that are put at a president's disposal, though often set in the midst of scenic loveliness, are not at all cut off from civilization.

Therein lies one of the reasons why the ordinary vacationer need not envy the President. The latter cannot, if he would, get out of touch of his business. The affairs of state, the problems of governing a mighty land, follow him even when off duty. He can't be allowed really to rough it, for his health and safety must be constantly guarded and the national capital must be readily accessible by wire, at least, at all times. Humbler citizens may have freer holidays.

A HERO'S WISH.

Friends of Col. Lindbergh say he is prepared to accept his role as a celebrity whenever he is embarked on an official tour such as his recent trip to the Caribbean countries, but that he would like very much to enjoy the role of a private citizen ordinarily.

This seems a fair enough proposition and one that ought to appeal to a liberty-loving people. Can't some plan be worked out for effecting this? Let Lindbergh-Alone clubs might be organized whose members, although they would like to know all about what Lindy does and says and eats and drinks and wears and thinks, and where he goes and why he goes there, and so on, nevertheless, as their humble contribution to the many tributes paid him, will agree voluntarily to give up their daily newspaper item about him. Resolutions might be passed and sent to the newspaper editors, in every community to the effect that they will be forgiven for omitting some bits of Lindbergh news.

If he asked for money, the public would turn its pockets inside-out for him. If he were ill and needed a blood transfusion, it is our guess the response would be tremendous. All he asks is a little peace and privacy between public appearances. How about it, Americans?

FORTUNE'S SMILE AT 75.

There is something heartening to those growing old without worldly success, even to ne'er-do-wells of every class and age, in the story of how old Trader Horn, who at 73 was still a hand-to-mouth strolling peddler, and who now at 75 is a world-famed author enjoying book royalties said to amount to $4,000 weekly. Until Mrs. Lewis, a literary lady, discovered him as he wandered about South Africa, he had sold ivory and gin in Africa, hunted gorillas, painted on tin, mined in our West, farmed in our South, and peddled gridirons in Cape Colony, "never sticking to anything long."

Now enthusiasts compare this interesting, but life-long inefficient, old world-wanderer with Calo who learned Greek at eighty, with Sophocles who wrote "Oedipus" when more than four score years of age, with Goethe who completed "Faust" when past eighty, and with other ancients who wrought mightily in their last years, presumably without attributing equal genius to the old peddler.

Of course all these, Trader Horn himself included, are exceptions. But they go to show that ripe maturity, given the will and power to execute, may at times possess that which youth and middle age may struggle long and in vain to attain.

PERILS OF TELEVISION.

Although modern inventions such as the telephone, the motor-car and the radio add to our convenience and pleasure, they nevertheless involve increased care and nervous strain, and when we get still more of them it may state, in the Union.

become a question as to whether the benefits involved may not more than offset the advantages. This frequent reflection is brought to mind here by the story of the progress of the Bishop of St. Albans against science and the modern television. The English prelate, Bishop Butler, is quoted as saying: "I can see one place only where I can see absolute privacy. That is my own room. Now I read that even this privacy is to be abolished, and that a little time longer, I shall with great indignation see the day when by television my morning ablutions will be reflected on a screen in New York for the entertainment of the American public."

This has the sound of extravagant jest, but when the already much derided American public will hardly care for a look-in on the morning ablutions of a British bishop. One can hardly conceive of persons in his own diocese wishing to view him in his most undignified hour of privacy. It is true, however, that the curiosity of idle persons with no resources within themselves knows practically no limits. With television a success and in general use there would appear to be no telling to what extent privacy might be invaded or how vast might become the occupations of the Paul Prys of both sexes.

HOW TO SLOW DOWN THE HEART.

I have spoken before about examining the hearts of boxers, and mentioned the fact that Johnny Dundee's heart rate was about 58 to 60 to the minute, which is 20 to 12 beats slower than what is considered the normal rate. This simply means that the trained heart does its work with fewer beats because every beat is strong, and a large volume of blood is pumped out with each beat. Just see what an advantage this is to the athlete.

Research men have been experimenting with athletes and non-athletes, and have shown that the circulation in the non-athletic type was twice as large when they took exercise then when at rest, whereas in the athletic type the volume was three times as large as when at rest. You can read or see therefore that the athlete can do the same amount of work as the non-athlete with less call on the heart and lungs for work and oxygen.

This was very noticeable in examining recruits for the army. The athlete would have a heart rate of 65 to 72, and after a stationary run of fifty steps at "double" time, would show a heart rate of about 80 to 100 to the minute, whereas the non-athlete would have a pulse rate of 76 to 90, and after exercise would be 105 to 132 to the minute.

Now the fact that you are not an athlete needn't worry you, because your heart will respond to the same thing that made the athlete's heart slower, that is exercising or just plain manual work. It was not unusual to have a heart which was beating 90 to the minute at the time of the examination reduced to 80 after three months of physical training. Not only that, but this means that even when the athlete is not exercising, his heart is pumping more blood with each beat than that of the non-athlete. The trained heart therefore has a great advantage over the non-trained heart whether at rest or at work.

Now when you remember that in pneumonia, appendicitis, or any serious ailment it is the heart that practically decides the fate of the patient, you can understand the importance of having a strong trained heart.

If you weigh, say 150 pounds, and were to jog or do a stationary run of 100 steps in front of your open window, you would thus raise 15,000 pounds or 7½ tons clear of the floor within the space of one minute. If you then rest a minute and do 100 more steps, you will have raised altogether 15 tons off the floor within three minutes time.

This much work, or even half this much, done night and morning, will usually slow down a heart in three to six months.

It is to get a strong heart and good wind that athletes do "road work," which is simply slow running outdoors.

Did Great Work

Dr. Lucien Howe was responsible for the first law on preventing opthalmic neomatom, the Howe law passed in 1900 in New York state. Similar laws making it obligatory for midwives, doctors and nurses to report promptly all cases of opthalmic neomatom observed and a law requiring the use of prophylactic drops in the eyes of all newborn babies have since been enacted in almost every state in the Union.

PORT EWE

Port Ewe March 23.—Mops Lodge No. 65, Knights of Pythias are offering a prize to the school pupils of District No. 13, covering the year's work. The prize to be in the form of a gold medal to be awarded to the scholar who has obtained the highest general average in regents. The presentation will be made at the graduation exercises in June and the only requirement is that the pupil offer an essay on a specified subject chosen by the committee in charge. The subject suggested being "Civic Pride in Port Ewe." The lodge is offering this prize with the thought in mind of encouraging the pupils in their school work.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Robert Doyle and family have rented the lower flat of Mrs. C. Leitching on Green street.

Mrs. Benjamin Dougherty of Stout avenue who has been ill of a severe cold is improving.

An entertainment under the auspices of the Dorcas Society will be given in the Auditorium of the Reformed Church this evening at 8 o'clock. Members of the congregation and their families are requested to be present and return the use of brellas which were given out in the fall. After the entertainment a social time will be spent and refreshments served.

There was a fair attendance at the quilting in the Methodist Church House Wednesday. A delicious pot luck dinner was served at noon to which every one did ample justice. Several attended the quilting today and from today those who wish to assist will meet at the home of the chairman of the fancy article committee of the coming fair, Mrs. Vinal Lefever on Broadway.

A meeting of the Port Ewe Free Library Association will be held at the library next Monday, March 26, at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Matthews have moved from Edgewater, N. J., to the home of Mrs. Matthews' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Crook, on Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. George Caniff of Schryver street are spending a few days in Marlborough.

Mrs. G. P. Griffin of Hamilton street is visiting friends in Walden. Tonight at 8 o'clock the Dorcas Society will entertain the members of the congregation and their families. A moving picture will be given by the New York Telephone Company, also vocal and instrumental selections. After the entertainment a social hour will be enjoyed and refreshments served. At this time the members of the congregation are requested to turn in the umbrellas which were sent them last fall. Please present them at the door.

On Sunday, March 25, the Reformed Church of Port Ewe will observe its Every Membership Campaign. It will be a season for individual expression of gratitude for the bounties richly received in the past year. In order to do the work adequately sixteen men are needed. The pastor calls for volunteers to meet Sunday, March 25, at 2 p. m. in the Sunday school room. On Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock the consistory wishes to present at a special congregational meeting the subject of a Sunday school building for its approval. On Sunday, April 1, at 7:30 p. m., the Lord's Supper will be observed. This will be a memorial communion because just 200 years ago at about this time the first communion was observed in Manhattan Island. It was observed in the upstairs rooms of a mill. At this time all who wish to unite themselves with the church should kindly give their letters of transfer or notify the pastor of their intention to join upon confession of their faith. A generous offering will be given for the Ministers' Pension Fund. During the Lenten Week special Lenten services will be held. On Tuesday evening, at 7:30, "Christian Allegiance." On Wednesday at 7:30, "Service." On Thursday evening, at 7:30, "Self Surrender." On Friday evening at 7:30, "Victory in Tragedy." On Easter at 8:30 a. m. the Christian Endeavorers invite all to their "Sunrise Service." Besides the special music in the morning an unusual musical program will be rendered in the evening. The Port Ewe Reformed Church welcomes all with a glad hand.

Woodstock Will Be All Lit Up

Taxpayers Vote to Install 31 Lights For Village Streets—Opponents Say March Max Means Stricken Artists.

The taxpayers of Woodstock village met Wednesday night, March 21, at the M. E. Hall to hear the report of a committee previously elected to confer with the town board and the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation representatives about proposed street lighting for the village of Woodstock.

The result of the Wednesday night meeting was the adoption of a resolution that the report recommending 31 street lights for the village streets be accepted, that the town board be authorized to contract with the Central Hudson Corporation for 31 lights and an additional two at the discretion of the standing committee representing the taxpayers of the lighting zone as set up by the Central Hudson G. & E. Co. engineers.

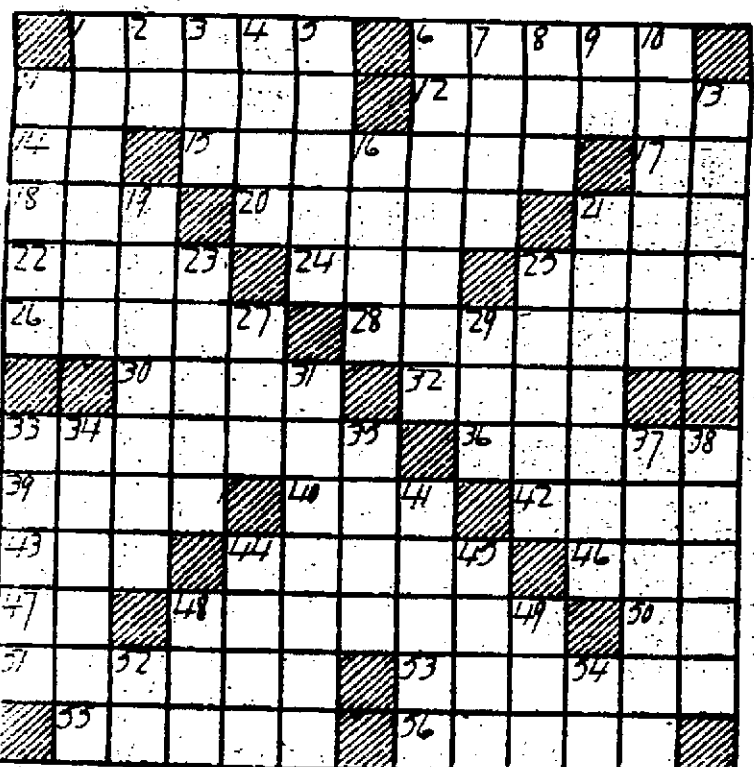

This action brought to a close a long-standing fight in the Art Colony Village between the artists residents and the merchants and native residents. The artists opposed the coming of street lights for the village on the ground that the native rusticity and charm of the island village would be lost. This it was, they claimed, that brought the artists to Woodstock, that gave the town its outside reputation and to make a "Main Street" of the town would drive away the very people who had built the town to its present size and popularity. But the taxpayers living in the zone to be lighted petitioned the town board to call the meeting of Wednesday night, and by their action spent $1,100 a year for lights which will be raised by a tax levy on property valued at $200,000 located in the village proper.

The opposing camp are up in arms at the procedure, claiming that many of the artists are away at this time of year and that a march has been stolen on them by the winter residents in the art colony town.

The taxpayers' committee consists of three members, George A. Neher, John H. Harrison and Adelbert Laro. At the meeting of Wednesday night, during an open forum, a number of persons publicly objected to the placing of lights on, or near, their properties. On motion made by Dr. M. B. Downer, the whole matter was approved and left at the discretion of the committee to conclude.

Flying Now Latest Innovation. Among Society of Washington

BY SHIRLEY KIRKE
International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent

The great outdoors and particularly the air above the earth, has issued such a potent call to Washington women that they have parked their little pink tees and other indoor diversions.

They are going into this business of cloud-soaring seriously, attending aviation schools and all.

At such institutions they are not only learning how to fly, but are developing whatever "sense of flight" they may have—that extraordinary ultra-nervous sense that is getting to be common in birdmen.

Particularly are women taking to the air who have an attack of aviation in the family, as it were, with brothers or husbands or somebody else in active air service.

Mrs. E. B. McLean, wife of the wealthy Washington publisher, has been known to take to the air to keep appointments in distant cities.

Miss Margaret Bartlett, daughter of a famous Reno divorce lawyer, and a former congresswoman, flies hither and yon over the country, doing all her traveling by plane.

The list of women pilots includes:

the names of Ruth Elder and Ruth Nichols, who are far better known to the public.

Women go airplane buying with their husbands, choosing the models just as they picked out the family fiver.

There is a tale about how Mrs. Trubee Davison came to fly at all. It's said, until, when at a field one day, a lovely sky-blue plane dropped from the air at her feet, she didn't want to fly.

It was her husband's new craft, and she was so delighted with the color that she climbed right in and rode off.

MODENA. March 22.—The next regular meeting of the Plattekill Grangers will be held at the hall Saturday evening, March 24, featuring "Long Long Ago" as its form of entertainment. Refreshment committee members: Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Eckert, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk, Halsey Sherwood, Kaap, John Hammerick, Ed Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. Perry.

The clay pigeon shooting match held at Rutie Ward's place Saturday afternoon, under the direction of Plattekill Gun and Rod Club, resulted in splendid performance in marksmanship and good reports to finance committee.

Modena Girl Scouts held a meeting at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, Saturday afternoon when basketry instructions were continued.

Elmer Every visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Every, last week.

Mrs. Arthur Coy spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Floyd Harcourt.

Mrs. Ira Hyatt was a visitor at Kingston Tuesday of this week.

Frank Hartney and helpers have commenced repairs on the state road.

Mour was interred at the Modena rural cemetery Sunday, March 18. Mr. Seymour died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Godney Mackey, near Milton, but for many years lived at his farm west of this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Sutton have moved from Mrs. Locke's farm to Unionville. Edward Morris has leased the place now for the season.

New York course to play for gold and silver medals annually. Tommy takes part in the tournaments. Now had plans to build a house in Bermuda when Newport is wintry.

New York—In order to be an Earl Edward Walker, 22, must refrain from marked attention to any girl until he earns $10 a week. Also he must not smoke. The restrictions are imposed in the will of his stepfather, Jacob Meyers, stationer and printer. Business associates say Meyers used cigarettes incessantly himself. The estate is estimated at $50,000 and up. Walker is left nothing direct but the will imposes conditions as to what he shall inherit from his mother.

Check Flu-Grip By Using Vicks at First Sneeze

Health Authorities Urge Precaution to Prevent Epidemic

If all colds were checked at the beginning, influenza, pneumonia and grip would be greatly reduced. It takes quick action to get ahead of the germs of these dread diseases. Many cases of flu start from germs breathed in. The effective way to attack them is direct—with vapors of Vicks VapoRub.

When rubbed on the throat and chest the ingredients of Vicks are released in the form of vapors, which, being breathed in, carry medication to the inflamed air passages and lungs direct and instantly. In addition, it acts like a poultice and helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

While grip and influenza are so prevalent local people are urged to keep Vicks VapoRub ready at all times for instant use.

Kuprox Rights Sold for $250,000

Less than a year ago a college professor of the University of Cincinnati, peering into an electric furnace where he was conducting experiments for the Liebel-Flarsheim Company, manufacturers of X-ray equipment in the Queen City, watched a tiny disc of copper turn a fiery red, become as if a molten mass and then almost vaporize. Opening the furnace and seizing the metal, he plunged it into a chemical bath and permitted it to cool. The astonishing performance of this new element when tested in the electrical laboratories has since revolutionized the rectifying of electric power, eliminating electrolytic, bulb and vibrating type rectifiers.

For this invention the Kodol Radio Corporation, who manufactured the new metal, known as Kuprox, during the past year, has just paid the Liebel-Flarsheim Company $250,000, one of the largest sums ever paid for a patent since the discovery of radio. The announcement of the purchase was made by Clarence E. Ogden, president of the Kodol Radio Corporation, who stated that approximately 35 patents are involved in the purchase, with more than 15 additional patents and improvements in construction pending for the Kodol Radio Corporation.

In addition, the Kodol Radio Corporation is to receive complete manufacturing rights under any additional inventions, covering dry rectifiers, that may be developed by the Liebel-Flarsheim organization.

During the past six months, it was reported, royalties in excess of $100,000 were paid to the same company by the Kodol Radio Corporation, covering Kuprox Radio Light Socket Power Device, sold throughout the country during the radio season. Kuprox is a new metallic element that permits electric current to pass only in one direction. While originally applied to the rectifying of electric current in the elimination of batteries for supplying radio power, Kuprox is now being used in replacing rectifiers and chargers by railroads, telephone companies, all types of signal systems, central power stations and in practically every place where electric current must be rectified.

The purchase of the basic patents for the construction and manufacture of Kuprox will place the Kodol Radio Corporation among the leaders in the radio field, having complete control of the rectifying field, it is said. In addition, their position will be strengthened greatly due to the tremendous outlet for the new rectifying element in industrial development. Kuprox has already been used by university and scientific engineers in registering the intensity of light and sound and in measuring the fatigue of the human body.

Astonishing isn't it, how old habits cling? For instance, a woman will pull up her skirt when she sees a mouse.

Federated Parent Teacher Meeting

The March meeting of the Federated Council Parent-Teacher Association was held Wednesday, at the High School. There was a large attendance of officers and members of the grade and high school associations, however, No. 4 and No. 8 were not represented.

Some business pertaining to the Founder's Day party, held February 15, was first disposed of, then a number of activities of the near future were considered. First, was a letter from the district chairman, Mrs. Simmons, urging all presidents to attend an institute to be held at Newburgh, the afternoon of April 17.

The speaker on this occasion, will be Mrs. Charles Roe, a national field secretary, who is touring the state. The council voted to send its president, Mrs. Arthur H. Russell.

The secretary, Miss Cordes, next read a letter from the Near East Relief Committee, requesting aid from the Parent-Teacher Association, in raising a fund of $5,000,000. No decision was reached and the matter was held over until the April meeting.

Mrs. Russell then gave a timely bit of advice to the presidents of the different P-T-A's in regard to selecting the proper persons for committees and leaders. She also urged them to consent to remain in office two or three years, as they could do much more efficient work the latter part of their terms, than at the beginning, owing to the experience obtained.

The Spring Conference of the Poughkeepsie District, which embraces the counties of Dutchess, Putnam, Orange, Sullivan and Ulster, is to convene here May 12. Everyone who is interested in the welfare of children will be very welcome. Definite arrangements have not yet been made, but plans will be completed at the April meeting, when further announcements will be made.

MAPLE SUGAR SEASON LATE THIS YEAR

East Pembroke, N. Y., March 23 (AP)—The maple sugar season is getting under way in this section, about a month later than last year when tapping of trees was started on February 21. The farmers who own sugar bushes have their equipment all ready and are waiting only for the warm days and freezing nights which constitute ideal weather conditions for tapping.

The production of syrup and sugar is said to be far short of the actual demand. New York state comes second in the list of 23 states where maple sugar is produced, being surpassed in production only by Vermont.

Modern equipment on most farms has replaced the crude methods of the pioneer days and the troughs heaped from logs and the open potash kettles in which the sap was boiled have been replaced by huge evaporators said to produce a "cleaner" and better grade of sugar.

Pratt's Ride With Lindbergh

Washington, D. C., March 23—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh Thursday carried as his passenger, in his program to make Congress "air-minded," Congressman Harcourt J. Pratt, of the Twenty-seventh New York district. Mrs. Pratt and their daughter, Miss Rowena Pratt.

The flight was made from Bolling field late Thursday afternoon. Included in the group also were Congressman Gilbert N. Harzen, of Iowa, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture; Congressman Fred S.

Powell, of Indiana, and Mrs. Farnell, an Congresswoman Thomas S. Williams, of Illinois, all of the Representatives, as well as Mr. Pratt, being members of the Committee on Agriculture.

Lindbergh, the "lone eagle," in the last three days has carried aloft more than 100 Senators and Representatives and members of their families.

ELEANOR GUNN On Fashions

Skirts, Especially for Sports, Continue to Widen, Though Coats Retain Slim Lines—Ruffled Gown Seems Sure of Success—Ensembles for All Occasions

Paris—Of the several interesting things to appear important in the new mode, one is that skirts continue to widen, which means that in planning any home dressmaking, one must take added yardage into consideration. Either by means of pleats or of gored, by the addition of narrow ruffles, or the addition of one ounce of irregular width, skirts have become fuller.

The intention seems to be toward more softly feminine and more grown-up clothes. One is conscious of this even for sports wear, although it is apparent more in skirts than in jumpers, which have a gratifying way of remaining simple.

The much wider sports skirt is one that is worth watching. As has been explained before, fulness occurs anywhere, even, so it has developed, at the back, the source of not the most usual place for the circular section or the gore to occur.

Problem of Back Jabot

Some evening dresses have a rippling movement down the back, a glorified, or in any event magnified, jabot that starts either at the neck or waistline and cascades down the back, dipping the skirt at this point. It is a more rigid rule than formerly that skirt lines must be interrupted at some point.

The back jabot, as well as the sash or choux at the back, produces something of a sensation in silhouette and something of a problem in keeping well dressed, presenting, as it does, problems of pressing. Wedge-like inserts of sunray or fan-shaped pleats are among the developments that have been approved. One finds this motif occurring directly in the front or back of a skirt, or at either or both sides.

The ruffled gown seems reasonably sure of success, particularly later on, when one's coat has gone in the discard and one is inspired to sally forth in a frock that reflects either the old-fashioned poses of the garden or the geometrical problems that seem to have inspired modern designers. Tiny prints of calico design are either of bright or central tints, with a slight leaning toward conservative colorings.

Another Coat Year

Small polka dots, especially brown on white or white on brown, and more extraordinary still a combination of the two, go to make many a spring frock. Polka dots of varying size, as well as narrow stripes, must be added to the miscellaneous collection of printed designs, which include also crepes that have the effect of moire.

For the woman who is limited in the purchase of a wardrobe, the spring season offers endless and fascinating possibilities for variety. There are ensembles that include not only printed dresses but printed coats as well, garments that are, by the way, far more attractive—yes, and more wearable—than they sound.

In any event, it will be another coat year, many of the best-looking coats being unlined and of light weight materials, if they are woolen and of such silks as the printed crepes referred to, moires, and beiges, with an occasional taffeta or velveteen.

In spite of the much-discussed added inches in the width of a skirt, coats retain their slim lines. (Copyright, 1923, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York)

Jefferson Not Honored

In 1890 delegates met and adopted a constitution for a state of Jefferson, with an area somewhat larger than Colorado, and the opposition held a second convention and established the "territory of Jefferson," which later became the territory of Colorado.

Radio Saves Houses

A lightning storm in Middleborough, England, recently hit four houses. These were in the midst of a section thick with aerials, but were the only four that had no radio.

Use Care in Dressing Growing Girl Suitably

Great care should be taken to dress the growing girl suitably. She should wear clothes that are graceful and becoming, of the mode but not conspicuous. The Woman's Home Companion artist has designed a perfect dress for this gawky period. It may be made of silk, soft woolen or a combination of the two. An ideal alliance would be soft cashmere jersey for the blouse and a heavier woolen for the skirt; or for more formal wear the blouse could be silk crepe and the skirt matching kasha or velveteen. Inverted plaits at either side of the skirt give necessary fullness. The facing which lies flat to the neck follows the line of the neck in back and ends in a V in front, from which falls a soft bow.

On Rearing Children from CRIB TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN, The Magazine for Parents"

Children's early ideas of right and wrong are based upon the example set them by adults in the family.

The real honest man does not act honestly either because he is made to be honest or because he is paid for it. If he is really honest he himself wishes to act honestly. Honesty has been built as a habit into a child's character.

The child's clothing has a great deal to do with his reaction to changes in temperature. Naturally, the clothing must be heavier in winter than in summer, but most authorities are now agreed that it is a great mistake to bundle a child up in three or four thicknesses of woolen clothing. This is conducive to excessive perspiration when the child is indoors; and perspiration as it evaporates causes a rapid cooling off of the body surface, a condition which is equivalent to a sudden change in temperature.

When a child has a story to tell it should be listened to with respect. The parents may not be interested in the story itself, but they can be interested in the way in which it is told and the pleasure of the story teller.

Why eat vegetables? If you have a well-trained appetite the answer is easy—because you like them. But if you don't, why bother to learn and to teach your children to like them? If you are interested in life, overflowing and abundant life, the newer knowledge of nutrition again makes the answer easy—because the mineral and vitamin values of vegetables, and their laxative properties, can help you attain a degree of health, otherwise impossible.

Have sympathy with your child's enthusiasm for the "movies," go with him, study his reaction to the pictures he sees, and do your part to get desirable features shown in "our theater." Parents have only themselves to blame if their children are exposed to undesirable pictures.

Brilliant Costume Jewelry Is an Important Feature of the Current Mode

Paris—New designs in costume jewelry tend toward more elaborate effects. It is quite apparent that inspiration for the necklaces, bracelets, and so on that are such a feature of the costume showings, are inspired by jeweler's designs for genuine stones.

Chanel's new crystal necklaces, quite as brilliant as the new well-known one of last season, is distinctly longer and more of alternating oblong and triangular-shaped crystals ending in a very decorative pendant. Crystals and such clear stones as aquamarines and emeralds are prized above pearls.

Long pendants both silver and gold, and Molyneux strikes a new note by suspending large and spectacular crystal pendants from a fine black cord. Louisboulanger goes in for more exotic effects in both coral and turquoise, her monaquins varying a turquoise bordered choker strung with much smaller coral or pearl beads between, and thick ropes made of strands composed of small turquoise or coral. These are colorful and effective necklaces for the slender-necked woman, who is the only type on which such things should be worn.

The Brimmed Shape Above Is from Reboux, and Is a Bright Green Felt with a Double Brim of Felt and Grosgrain. Green Grosgrain Passes Around the Crown, Crossing in Back and Ending in Two Flat Bows Tucked Through Slits in the Side of the Crown.

The Skullcap Is from Falbot; This Is a Black-Shiny Straw Braid and Has a Wreath of Pink Feathered Leaves with Black Edges, Banding the Head and Crossing at the Front.

Lavin uses black with crystal, and both for ornaments and for bracelets favor large heavy rings or hoops. Two bracelets worn on the same arm were effective, one-half of the hoop being small cut jets; the other brilliant crystals. On many of her evening dresses, a single of interlaced hoop is worn at the girdle. Costume jewelry has seemingly come to stay, and deserves credit because of the effectiveness of its setting. ## To All Thin Blooded People Doctors Say: "Eat More Liver"

Hundreds of Thousands Eating Liver to Get Rich Red Blood.

Hundreds of physicians in New York and other cities who have tested and prescribed a diet of beefs liver in cases of poverty of the blood or anemia are now prescribing a preparation called Hemo-Liver which is made by a scientific process from fresh beefs livers.

By this process all the "mysterious substance" or vital elements that are obtained by eating liver are extracted and put up in the form of an elixir which is very palatable and pleasant to the taste.

Hemo-Liver is full of the vital elements or "mysterious substance" that is one of the great discoveries of recent years and by taking a tablespoonful three times a day you'll get more and quicker benefit than by eating pounds of liver.

Every progressive druggist sells Hemo-Liver in a big 12 ounce bottle that will last eight days.

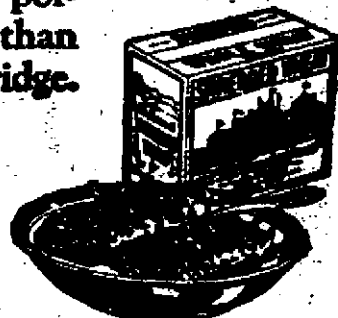

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished.

Why not get a big bottle of Hemo-Liver today—eight days' treatment—and if after you have taken one bottle you don't say Hemo-Liver is the greatest health builder you ever heard of—get your money back.

Not a patent medicine; mind you—but the vitamins extracted from fresh beefs liver. You can get Hemo-Liver at Mc Bride's (3) Stores.

To make a hot whole wheat porridge, boil the Biscuits in a saucepan with water until they thicken and serve with milk or cream. A real whole wheat porridge, better than ordinary porridge.

We do not teach gratitude as we should. When our tiny children receive gifts we ask, "What do you say, dear?" and the reply, "Thank you!" uttered as a kind of shorthand, is all sufficient. But are we concerned as to the child's mental reaction to the two words? Or is the form all that we demand? We know of one little boy who receives every present with an appreciation that warms each heart. No matter how trivial the gift, the answer is sure to be a delighted, "Oh, thank you!" Then the appeal to mother: "Oh, mother—just see what I've got!"

A plate of feathery hot muffins or a dish of cinnamon buns oozing brown syrup—and dinner turns into a "party"!

You can make all these extra touches so handily with creamy Snowdrift. Before we pack Snowdrift, we beat it and beat it till it reaches a velvety consistency and smoothness like rich whipped cream. And it stays creamy.

Dip in the spoon and measure out what you want; stir it in with the other ingredients—all this is the work of a few easy moments.

And how you'll like the wholesome goodness of your muffins and biscuits as they come from the oven! Snowdrift's own sweetness and freshness baked into every melting mouthful!

Lights Guide in Holland TunnelNew York, March 23 (AP)—A task that even Argus with his hundred eyes would have found impossible has been made easy for one man, thanks to the science of modern electrical engineering.The job is that of supervising the operation of the Holland Tunnel, the new double tube that conducts vehicular traffic under the Hudson between New York and New Jersey. The man is the control supervisor who, seated in a little room atop the administration building on the New York side, reads on three ingenious switchboards the story of what is happening in the white-tiled tunnel.Behind the walls of this underwater thoroughfare are 30 miles of electric circuits connected with carbon monoxide recorders, traffic signals, fire alarms, the ventilating system and other protective devices.
These circuits, the nerves of the tunnel, carry their messages to the switchboards which translate into terms intelligible to the supervisor the tales born by the busy wires.So intricate is this invisible messenger service that the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, which built the boards, had to invent several new devices that serve as electrical watchmen safeguarding the motorist who drives through the tube.Ventilation was perhaps the biggest problem that faced the engineers. The carbon monoxide released by the stream of cars that could be accommodated in the tubes was the chief bogey, but they overcame this hazard by installing a device that automatically records the amount of this deadly gas present in any of the fourteen sections of the tunnel at any time.A series of delicate meters set on one of the three control boards records a continuous graph of the purity of the air in each of the ventilating divisions. Chemical analyses of samples of the atmosphere constantly are being made in the big tube and the results are traced on the meters. When the concentration reaches a predetermined maximum, a buzzer on the board rings and the operator knows that a certain section of the tunnel needs more air. He then turns a key on the supervisory board, thus speeding up a ventilating fan or putting additional fans to work.Hundreds of miniature lamps distributed over the 24-foot panel of the supervisory control board tell how each motor and fan in the distant tubes is functioning. Some are keeping watch on the power cables that feed the electrical equipment of the tunnel. Others reveal whether the ventilating system is working properly, whether the water pumps are doing their assigned tasks and whether a faraway switch is open or closed.Traffic control also is recorded by lights. Each little red, green or white bulb on the third board in the control room is a counterpart of a "Stop," "Go," or "Single File to the Right" signal in the tube, and the supervisor at his desk can tell at a glance whether the line of automobiles below the river is moving smoothly, or whether a tie-up has occurred, making possible one-man control of whatever situation may arise.WHITE MEN CONTROL
SENECA OIL SPRING.Cuba, N. Y., March 23 (AP)—Control of the Seneca Oil Spring, two and one-half miles north of this village, finally has passed into the hands of white men.A quit claim deed, transferring the title to land about the spring and sufficient ground for parking purposes nearby, from the Seneca nation of Indians to the Seneca Oil Spring Association has been approved by the secretary of the interior at Washington.It is expected that actual jurisdiction over the property will be vested in the Allegany State Park Commission, probably by an act of the New York state legislature. The land may be used only as a park, under the terms of the deed.The deed transfers title to land within a radius of 75 feet of the famous spring where for many generations the Indians have scooped up from the surface of the water, oil to be used for medicinal purposes.
Title is included also to a parking space of about two acres, and to a road leading to the spring.The Seneca oil spring and the reputed medicinal value of its oily scum were known to the pioneer settlers long before the first oil well was drilled near Titusville, Pa.A commemorative tablet was placed at the spring last July during the

1928 Prospects Of the National Baseball Clubs

First Hand Survey of Training
Chance To Make It a Race—
Pirates, Red Sox, Yankees,
Will Meet With Staff Opposition.

New York, March 23 (AP).—There will be no odds on the favorite in the National League as the eight clubs start along the trail that leads to a pennant at the end of September.

At least half of the entries are conceded chances to make it a race, and as close an observer of things baseball as John McGraw has called the contest "open" for five bidders.

The defending champions, the Pittsburgh Pirates, may expect stern opposition from St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and New York. On the face of the early spring returns, subject to confirmation in the autumn, the other three places will be divided between Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia.

Many forecasters, who have made the pilgrimage to Aron Park to look over the Cardinals, expect Bill McKechnie's team to resume the fight with the bold Buccaneers where the same outfit, under Bob O'Farrell, left off last year.

The Pirates are conceded to be in better position to beat back the opposition in 1928, but rosters for the other clubs insist there is more strength in the assaulting forces. The Cardinals' supporters have been in good voice in Florida in March.

The addition of Earl Adams to do Pittsburgh's second basing and the resultant switch of George Grantham to first base has plugged the Pittsburgh weakness in the middle of the infield. Burleigh Grimes' crafty arm also may be expected to help the Pittsburghers and last year's pitchers are back again, with the exception of Vic Aldridge, the Indiana schoolmaster, who may or may not help the Giants.

Cardinals Strengthened.
The Cardinals, too, have been strengthened, not by the addition of new players, but in improved physical condition. O'Farrell promises to do the catching without the handicap of a balky thumb. Hafer's eyes have responded to treatment, and two bad legs, divided between Thorenson and Blades, are believed to be whole again. Flint Rhem will be able to pitch at the season's opening. Alexander seems more than ever a living illustration of the brook which was said to have gone on forever. The passing of Lester Bell who was far below his 1926 form last season, may leave the Cardinals a third base problem.

Skeptics are found who refuse to believe that the Giants who finished third last season with Hornsby at second base, can do better with the hard hitter doing his hitting for another club. Frank Morgan, who is to take care of the bulk of the catching, Andy Cohen as Hornsby's successor at second, and Jim Weiss and Frank O'Doul added to the outfield complement, mark the major changes in McGraw's team.

The Chicago Cubs have added strongly to their offensive power by the acquisition of Hazen Ceyler, and in Gabby Hartnett they have a catcher who will run one-two in any balloting for the best in the league. The Cubs' worries, if any, center about the infield. Maguire, McMillan, English and Butler may hold the club's ultimate fate in the hollow of their gloves.

Jack Hendricks, manager of Cincinnati, regards his team as a dark horse with red legs. Hendricks plans his hopes as a contender on improved physical condition of long George Kelly, an appendicitis victim last year, and added speed in the outfield to be contributed by fast youngsters who have been carefully brought along and are now pronounced ready. He is standing pat on his pitchers.

Brooklyn and Boston.
The two B's, Brooklyn and Boston, may have a race all their own. Rogers Hornsby will add a punch to the Braves' offense. It has not known in years and the Boston entry should strengthen the infield and should mate well with Hornsby and Farrell. The Redskin pitching is a doubt equation. A catching crisis was solved by the return of the hard working Taylor from New York. Manager Jack Slattery has other problems in his infield and outfield which may or may not work themselves out.

The Brooklyn situation is in contrast to that of Boston. Manager Robinson has no pitching troubles but has yet to find if he will be able to unscramble a lineup from his new crop with enough power to give the pitchers some runs to work on. The Robins will introduce some new faces to the Flatbush fans, the rotund pilot hoping all the while that they will say it with bats.

The Phillies, introducing a new manager working hard with limited material, will give some of the young fellows a chance and hope for the best. Bill Kelley, a big first baseman, has shown a disposition to hit the ball and "Pinky" Whitney seems to know what it is all about around third base.

Bell Covers for Plants
In a vegetable garden in Englewood bell-shaped glass covers are used, one for each plant. They are more successful in most respects than hotbeds and no permanent structure is needed.

Discord in Homes
The statement is made on good authority that there are 10,000,000 pianos in the homes of this country and 90 per cent of them are out of tune. Exchange.

Champion Tunney Orders Ring Equipment South

All the paraphernalia Gene Tunney used in preparing for his title defense against Jack Dempsey last fall was shipped to Miami, Fla., recently. Along with the shipment went Lou Fink, trainer of the heavyweight champion, to guard the 160-pound training gloves, light and heavy punching bags and Tunney's ring equipment.

Fink hastened South at the call of the titleholder, who plans to start light conditioning immediately in prospect of two matches next summer. The tactician trainer, who kept a wary eye on Gene's condition before almost all of his major battles, expects the champion to train in Florida four months. Sparring partners will be engaged within a few weeks.

If Tunney reaches an agreement with Tex Rickard for a fight in June, Fink believes the champion will complete training at Speculator, N. Y.

Herman Layne Is Bought by Indianapolis Indians

The outright purchase of Herman Layne, outfielder, from the Pittsburgh Pirates, is announced by James A. Perry, owner of the Indians. Layne played with the Tribe last season, being sent there on an optional agreement. He was recalled by the Pirates at the close of the season. With the Indians Layne batted .325 and his record included 25 doubles, ten triples and ten home runs.

The Indians now have five outfielders, the other four being Wild Mathews, Reb Russell, Walter Mueller and Walsh. Mueller was recently obtained from the Pirates. Walsh was bought from the Toronto club of the International league a year ago but did not report to the Tribe, being released on option for the 1927 season. Besides Mueller and Layne, Owner Perry purchased Emil Yde, pitcher, and Roy Spencer, catcher, from the Pirates during the winter months.

20-Year-Old Twirler Is Given $10,000 per Year

Willis Hudlin, the sensational contribution of Wagoner, Okla., to the big leagues, expects to get more than $10,000 from the Cleveland Indians for his services during his second year in the majors.

The twenty-year-old pitcher was credited with winning more games than any other hurler on the roster of the Indians last year, his first in big-time company.

Although he returned the first contract sent to him, Hudlin anticipates no difficulty in coming to terms, he said.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE BOWLING RESULTS.

The H. W. Palens defeated the Kingston Creamery bowlers in two out of three Mercantile League games at the Y. M. C. A. alleys Wednesday night. The Fuller team registered three consecutive wins over the Central Hudson Primaries, the first and last games of which were very interesting as but one point separated the teams. The Everett & Treadwell bowlers took three games from the Canfield Supply Company pin men.

DECATHLON MARVELS READY FOR OLYMPICS

Call for practice has gone out to America's decathlon candidates for the Olympics at Amsterdam. Chief Falt Elkins (left) is national championship holder and an outstanding prospect. Emerson Norton (right) is a husky from Kansas who will make them all hustle to make the team. Lawson Robertson (center) has made it very clear that there will be two try-outs this year, one at the Penn games at Philadelphia and another in July. He expects to keep the men in condition by this method.

Fast Bouts at Armory Tonight

All details for the boxing program at the armory tonight have been completed. The boxers are ready, according to their managers, to give the fans some real action in the 32 rounds of battling. The performance will open with a four-rounder at 8:45 in order to give churchgoers a chance to see the bouts.

There will be four six rounders as follows:

Frankie Konchina vs. Oscar Pultz.
Charlie Von Reeden vs. Al De Silva.
"Red" Edgerton vs. Kid Rash.

Frenchy Duweig, local, vs. Jackie Haskell.
The two four rounders will be as follows:

Joe Myers, local, vs. Tommy Gans.
Dewey Van Buren, local, vs. Phil Moser.

Haskell and Moser are the only two scrappers who are not known to local fans, but from advance information they will give their opponents something to worry about.

Oscar Pultz is well known in the fight game and will give Konchina a tough battle. All of the other scrappers have appeared in the ring here this year and the fans know the good quality of fights they are capable of staging.

The doors of the armory will open at 7:30 and those who like the choice seats are advised to arrive early. Of course, the reserved seats will be ready for ticket holders who have made arrangements.

Sam Riber will do the announcing.

Gate-Crasher Springs a New Fight Trick in Paris.

A burly six-footer, radiant with health and strength, applied for admittance at the special gate for complimentary tickets just before the Al Brown-Andre Routs fight at the Velodrome (Paris) recently.

He bore a card issued by Jeff Dickson, promoter, entitling the bearer to free admittance "as a war-mutilated soldier." Dickson has issued 50 such cards to maimed and impotent former soldiers, many of whom are wheeled into arenas on the night of each fight.

"But you are not a mutilated soldier," protested the Velodrome employee; "you look more like a weight lifter."

"Oh, this card belonged to a friend of mine who lost a leg at Verdun after having been gassed at Chateau Thierry," replied the gate crasher smoothly.

"He died last week. He left me this card in his will."

Spitz Good Sheep Tender

The Pomeranian sheep dog, better known as the Spitz dog, is bred in most countries as a house pet, small and useless. But in its own home on the shores of the Baltic this dog is the local sheep tender. He has a fox-like face and very long hair. In color he ranges over a wide scale, but black or white is most common, and the average weight is about eight pounds. The Spitz stands cold weather much better than warm.

Hunter Bus Case Order Reversed

The appellate division of the supreme court at Albany has handed down a unanimous decision in a case important to bus riders and operators. It is the case of Garrison vs. the Paramount Bus Company, in which Judge Nichols, on the application of the plaintiff through his attorney, the Hon. Charles W. Walton, granted an injunction pending the trial of the action restraining the defendant from operating its passenger bus line between New York city to Hunter via the state of New Jersey. Former Judge William D. Cunningham on behalf of the defendant appealed and the appellate division has unanimously reversed the decision of Judge Nichols, vacated the injunction and denied the motion for it with costs on the ground, among others, that the state authorities and courts have no power to control or hamper interstate commerce and that it was unnecessary for the defendant to obtain from the State Public Service Commission the certificate of public convenience and necessity.

JAPANESE YOUTH FLAME IN DYED HAIR

Tokyo, March 23 (AP).—Red-headed Japanese boys are appearing on the streets of Tokyo and another problem of the rising generation has arisen to burden the overworked police department. "Red-heads" of course are not natural in Japan, any more than blondes. But the youths who affect western styles with Oxford bags, flowing ties and rakish hats have tired of the raven black locks of their nativity. They purchase peroxide and henna, and the result is at least startling. Witnesses reported seeing six auburn-haired Japanese "mobos" on the Ginza, Tokyo's Broadway, recently. The police questioned several on the suspicion that the red tops meant that the boys were communistically inclined.

JOURNEY TO MOON AIM OF SCIENTIST.

Paris, March 23 (AP).—A trip to Mars or the moon at 30,000 miles a minute is being discussed again. The day for the start is still in the indefinite future, but Robert Esnault-Pelterie says it's coming, and prominent scientists don't disagree with him. Esnault-Pelterie, inventor of the airplane's broomstick control, and Andre Hirsch have founded an annual prize of $200 to be awarded for the invention or discovery contributing most to the ultimate goal of air tours about the universe. This fantastic plan was presented recently by Esnault-Pelterie to the newly formed committee of scientists who will make the awards. Atomic power, of which little is known, is regarded by Esnault-Pelterie as a vital field, for he thinks the release of such energy will solve the problem of how to propel an airplane up in the air beyond the power of the earth's attraction. Once out of that range, he believes, the resistance would be so slight as to make possible speed a hundred times as great as is yet possible with anything in which we can travel.

Television Experiment. Roubaix, France, March 23 (AP).—Clear images of illustrations and printed articles in a newspaper were thrown on the screen of a theatre here when Edouard Belin, pioneer television expert, lectured on the subject. The pictures were transmitted from Rueil, a distance of 140 miles.

Word To The Wise. Cincinnati, March 23 (AP).—Jaywalkers here got a police ticket telling that 63 pedestrians were killed and 884 hurt by autos in 1927.

Soviet Project Given Death Blow

Geneva, March 23 (AP).—The Soviet project for complete disarmament today was given its death blow by the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations. Notice of the project's demise was postponed, however, until it was found whether the committee's own draft on disarmament would go to a second reading this session.

A resolution closing the debate on disarmament noted that practically all the members find the Soviet text, while in harmony with the ideals of mankind, is incapable of being carried out under existing world conditions. It suggested that the Soviet method might be studied further by the various governments but made no provision for its further study by the commission.

The resolution was presented after Anatole Lunacharsky, Soviet commissar for public instruction, had appeared before the committee in place of Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation. M. Lunacharsky, replying to attacks on the Soviet plan, said the people of the world without question demand what the Soviet is proposing—general and immediate disarmament. Discussion regarding it might be closed at Geneva, he continued, but it would remain open before the world.

The resolution will be discussed this evening.

MOSTON CHINATOWN SEES IT'S FAVOR

Boston, March 23 (AP).—Boston's Chinatown is becoming increasingly desirous of the good will of the rest of Boston.

The community now is under strict orders from its leaders to see that members do not incur the displeasure of the authorities or the general public.

The Chinese district never has been commercialized by tourist agencies after the manner of such districts in some other cities. Little stores selling strange oriental goods and foods, eating places that are strictly Chinese, a Chinese theatre, Chinese merchants' associations, a school for Chinese children where they are trained after public school hours, all are found within its borders.

Of late some of the leaders have feared that the rest of Boston might get the impression that Chinatown was a place where lawbreakers gathered. Instead of a respectable community of business business men, so often and business organizations called a meeting and the order went forth to Chinese organizations to refrain from even the semblance of evil doing.

Residents taking their reform movement seriously, have determined to try the American custom of going out for a "Sunday afternoon walk" instead of remaining indoors, and the idea has found great favor.

Senator Wicks at Laundry Meeting

An address of welcome by Mayor Henry C. Fagal officially opened the nineteenth annual convention of the New York State Laundry Owners' Association at the Van Currier hotel, Schenectady, Thursday. Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, a member of the association, responded in behalf of the delegates, who numbered approximately 350.

Charles H. Parmelee, the president, read a report on the activities of the association during the year. He made several suggestions, emphasizing the need for profit sharing with employees, which he said was one of the best ways of increasing efficiency and promoting good will among employees.

Following an address by Lloyd A. Peck, assistant director of the engineering department, the session adjourned for a luncheon at the Van Currier hotel. Mr. Peck spoke on the future of laundry establishments and what developments may be expected soon in mechanical machinery.

The delegates were entertained at a dinner at the Van Currier hotel at 7 o'clock Thursday night. A program of entertainment was presented, after which there was dancing. The convention will close this afternoon with the election of officers. The meeting will take place at the Edison club hall.

PIANOS TO HARMONIZE WITH HOME FURNITURE

A. E. Thomas, piano merchant of this city has returned from New York city where a monster meeting of piano dealers was recently held under the auspices of the Gulbransen Piano Company of Chicago. Mr. Thomas heard many things about pianos but the outstanding information gleaned at the meeting was that the Gulbransen Company is manufacturing pianos to harmonize with furniture suites used in the homes of today.

In the past eighteen months the company has produced fifteen new models, including uprights reduced in size, in color lacquer and with decorated cases to harmonize with any home furnishings, art grando and a number of new ideas in roll player pianos. Pianos will now harmonize with furniture of the Louis XVI period, Spanish antique, Hepplewhite or Adam, popular in American living rooms.

COLONEL McENTEE'S LECTURE AT FIRST DUTCH CHURCH

Colonel McEntee's lecture this evening in the chapel of the First Dutch Church not only will be illustrated with many scenes from the Philippines, but will afford the people of Kingston an opportunity to learn at first hand the truth about those valuable and interesting possessions of the United States, the Colonel having been stationed there for several years. His lecture which has been delivered at West Point before the officers and cadets of that post, and before the Admirals and cadets at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, has met with the warmest approval. He will be introduced by Judge Clearwater, who was a classmate and roommate of the Colonel's father at Kingston Academy when that institution was one of the greatest classical schools of the country. The Judge's cousin, General Frederick A. Smith of the United States Army, commanded in the Philippines for five years. General Smith before he entered the Military Academy at West Point was the general manager of the American Express Company in Kingston.

Legionnaires Receive Visit

the members of Kingston Post and turned it over to Raymond H. Woodard, chairman of the Americanization Committee. Mr. Heiselman in so doing stated that this task had been carried out by Mr. Woodard and to him went the credit of carrying on the good work. Mr. Woodard briefly responded.

State Adjutant Maurice Stember was next introduced and he too had honors to bestow upon the local Post. Membership he said was a big thing in the life of the American Legion. At first this came all too slowly but now posts all over the state and nation were carrying on in a remarkably fine manner. If all posts were like Kingston Post the membership troubles would all be over. He then presented a citation to the Post for being the first Post in the Department of New York to go over its 1927 membership. Kingston Post by so doing has won both a National and a State citation. Kingston Post, he said, had pledged a membership of 700 and already had 580.

Post Commander Heiselman thanked Mr. Stember for the honor and took the opportunity to renew the pledge that during the term of Commander Spafford the membership of Kingston Post would reach the 700 mark. He said the Post had but 120 to go now and he would again assure the National Commander that the 700 mark would be reached during his administration.

Following Mr. Stember Chairman DuBois presented the National Commander, Edward E. Spafford, the first National Commander to honor Kingston Post with his presence. Mr. Spafford received a very warm welcome.

In opening Mr. Spafford said that he was going to limit himself to 15 minutes, he too having the dance in mind, and in that brief time he was not going to attempt to tell the story of the American Legion. That story was too great to tell in an hour or a day or during the lifetime of the members. The story of the Legion would never be told until long after the last man of the Legion had gone to join his comrades who made the supreme sacrifice during the years of 1917-1918. The Legion was a "last man" organization and when that last man was gone the story of the Legion would still be untold. The story of the Legion would be reflected in future generations as had the story of the G. A. R. been reflected on the present generation. From the members of the G. A. R. we of today have learned a great lesson. Those who responded in 1917-1918 were inspired with the great example set by the members of the G. A. R. and so, too, will the youth of today be inspired by the example set by the Legion. He therefore cautioned every Legion member to set an example which would be one well to be followed by coming generations.

The American Legion is the greatest veteran organization of all times. It is the greatest veteran organization in the world today and is looked upon as such by all nations. So great is the influence of the Legion that its weight is far reaching. But he cautioned every member to remember that the Legion is an organization of service and not one to be used by any individual or party.

Mr. Spafford said he had recently been quoted as being against freedom of speech. This was absolutely untrue. He believed in freedom of speech but he condemned that unscrupulous speech which attempts to plant in the minds of youth treasonable ideas. This type of speech can't be tolerated. It is one of the duties of the Legion to see that such treasonable speech is not uttered against us. The American Legion should try and is trying to teach the youth of today the principles of Americanism in just the same way that the members of the G. A. R. taught the idea to us. This service will be reflected in the children of tomorrow and if the American Legion can continue this teaching of patriotism it won't be forgotten by them any more than it was forgotten by the youth who had his teaching from the G. A. R.

The American Legion Auxiliary, he said, has its duty. It is a big one. Cooperation with the Legion will bring about big things and he expressed his hope that he would see the Auxiliary grow to twice or treble its present membership.

One of the greatest causes of war is a lack of understanding and lack of education. Propaganda which is spread is responsible for the attitude of the people to a great extent.

When the American Legion selected Paris for its National convention there was much talk and much adverse propaganda spread. It had been said that France did not want the American Legion; there were all kinds of stories circulated tending to show that the pilgrimage would not be well received. Yet no one ever received such hospitality and cordiality as that pilgrimage received on its arrival in France or during its stay there.

It is a lack of understanding and a lack of education which promote war. A more thorough understanding among men and a more liberal education will go farther to prevent war than any legislation which can ever be enacted. Education and tolerance will bring about a peace such as no other means can produce. War can't be legislated against with any degree of success but it is education that will go a long way toward this end.

Commander Spafford then told in a most vivid manner of the arrival of the pilgrimage and of the reception which was accorded the Legion delegates. He told of the tremendous ovation with which it was received and he told of the silent and tearful remembrance of the great war which the marching thousands brought back to France. The attitude of the French had caused an indelible impression on the minds of those men who had returned there last year; it created an impression in the minds of everybody who participated in that reception and who witnessed the attitude of the French people that every man or woman must return home and work for peace throughout the world.

War torn France had extended to the visiting Americans a reception such as had never before been given and this reception was one which impressed the fact on everyone's mind that peace was a thing which should be the aim of every Legion member and so the Legion was working toward that end by education and patriotism.

He spoke of his visit to other parts of Europe and of his visit to Rome in France where rest 14,000 of America's dead. There was the real spirit of America. Is the Legion keeping faith with those who gave their all that Liberty might live? His reply was that the Legion is. It is keeping faith with the widows, orphans and the disabled and by community service is carrying on. The Legion is not a militant organization; it is a militant peace organization. He stated that in every major war in which the United States has gone there had been unpreparedness. He advocated as a peace impelling force the universal draft. A small standing army which might form the nucleus for a greater army in time of need, a navy equal to the occasion and a peace time training would be a protection against future wars. The Legion wants to protect the children from future wars and by preparedness this end can be met. He commended the C. M. T. C., the O. R. T. C., the National Guard and also the advisability of having a small highly efficient standing army. By preparedness peace will be promoted.

In closing he said that he desired that when the organization passes out of existence, with the passing of the last man, to feel that the Legion had been instrumental in promoting peace and patriotism and if such an accomplishment could be credited to the American Legion its existence would not have been in vain.

The program was brought to a conclusion with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and the meeting adjourned to the Memorial Building on O'Reilly street where many were present to greet the National Commander.

Music during the evening was provided by Ernie's orchestra and dancing was a prominent part of the program at the Memorial Building.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL PLAYERS VISIT GOVERNOR

Albany, N. Y., March 23 (AP).—Governor Smith today received 150 high school basketball players from all parts of the state. The boys visited Albany during their three-day stay in Troy for the annual tournament of the New York State Public High School Athletic League. I hope the best team wins, the Governor told the boys after he had been introduced to them by members of their coaching staffs.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 23 (AP).—Disregarding profit taking in several of the recent leaders, the stock market today showed a marked broadening in demand, with gains of 2 to 5 points in the seasoned dividend-paying industrials and rails, supplemented by advances of 6 to 15 points in several of the pool specialties. Trading did not keep pace with yesterday's record breaking session in the first three hours, but large blocks of stocks again made their appearance at frequent intervals.

Price movements bore little relation to the day's news although the unexpectedly small increase in brokers' loans undoubtedly fired the speculative imagination, and gave the bull market a new lease of life. Several 1927 earnings reports made their appearance during the day, and they showed mixed results. Packard earned $3.37 a share on the common in the six months ended February 29 against $1.96 in the corresponding period a year ago. Southern Railway earned $14.40 a share for the full year of 1927 as against $15.87 the year before. The Ajax Rubber Company reported a deficit of nearly $2,000,000 last year as contrasted with a deficit of less than $500,000 in 1926.

U. S. Steel common ran into heavy profit taking but held above yesterday's closing level. Radio after selling down to 150 1/2, rallied to 156 1/2, up 5 1/2 points above last night's close, and General Motors rallied from a low of 181 1/2 to 184 1/2, or within half a point of the top price recorded on the day's initial transaction. Atlas Powder soared 16 points, Adams Express 13, and Jersey Central, du Pont, Coca Cola, International Harvester and General Electric moved up 5 to 10 points.

Several new highs recorded in the railroad group, the list including Rock Island common, Texas and Pacific, Reading and Iowa Central.

Many Measures Before Governor

"Cropped-Ear Bug" Bill Likely To Cause Governor's Amount of Business Will Hold Hearings on Several Other Bills.

Albany, N. Y., March 23 (AP).—With the 1928 session of the Legislature a matter of history, the Capitol today turned its attention to action to be taken by Governor Smith on a mass of legislation sent to him during the last ten days and on the last day of the session.

Few of the measures before the governor will present any serious problem, the majority of them being non-controversial. The one which seems likely to arouse the greatest amount of debate, to judge from correspondence reaching the executive chamber, is the so-called "cropped-ear bug" bill—designed to forbid the showing at any dog show after September 1 of any dog whose ears have been clipped or cropped.

Heading the demand from both proponents and opponents of the measure, the Governor has announced that within a few days he will set a date for a hearing. Hearings on several other bills, among them one designed to authorize construction of a bridge across the St. Lawrence river in the vicinity of the Thousand Islands, will also be held by the executive.

One of the first ten day bills before the Governor due to receive approval is that calling for a fifty per cent reduction in the direct state tax on real property. Four appropriations bills carrying an approximate total of $600,000, also are in line for his signature. They provide for reconstruction of a burned factory building at Sing Sing, for additional living quarters at Matteawan state hospital, extra judges for the court of claims, and additional facilities for the division of licenses in the department of state. All were passed by the Legislature after special messages from the Governor.

Bills designed to extend the application of emergency rent laws for another year to the cities of New York and Buffalo confront the Governor with virtually his only problem in pending legislation. The measures were approved at the last minute by the legislature in the face of recommendations by the state housing board, a fact-finding body, that the rent laws, enacted in 1920 as the result of a war time housing shortage, be abolished.

Also pending before the executive are a series of bills intended to guard against irregularities in connection with voting at general elections, the statewide grade crossing elimination bill, a measure designed to license barbers, and numerous measures of purely local application.

The closing hours of the executive session, which ended shortly before six p. m. yesterday, were in marked contrast to the wild scenes in which some former sessions are remembered. Both houses were deluged with last minute legislation, and the members were too much occupied with pending business to indulge in some of their old time horse play.

Party antagonism was carried up to the very last by the leaders of the opposing parties in statements issued at the close of the session, characterizing it on the part of the Republicans—as likely to have general approval by the people of the state—and, from the Democratic standpoint, as "puttering, useless, and ineffectual."

TUG LION RELEASED FROM MUD BANK BELOW PORT EWEN

The Cornell Line tug Lion was pulled off the mud bank below Port Ewen where she has been resting since early Monday, at 2 o'clock this morning and is now at the Cornell Shops on the Rondout creek. It required the services of four Cornell Line tugs together with its own engine turning over to release the Lion from the mud bank. She was blown onto the mud bank Monday morning and efforts to release her had proven futile until this morning. The tug was not damaged and ran into the Rondout creek under her own power when released.

Senator Ferris Of Michigan Dies

Veteran of Michigan Politics: Election Successes After Week's Illness—Came Out for the Nomination of Walsh for the Presidency.

Washington, March 23 (AP).—Senator Woodbridge W. Ferris of Michigan died here at 6:15 o'clock this morning from pneumonia.

The 75-year-old veteran of Michigan political battles succumbed after a week's illness which began with a heavy cold. On March 7, Senator Ferris announced that because of his age he would not be a candidate for re-election and at the same time came out for the nomination of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, for the presidency, because he is a dry.

Ferris's announcement for Walsh was regarded as creating the first split in the heretofore unbroken sentiment among Michigan Democrats for Governor Smith of New York. Ferris recognized the "greatness" of Smith, but said he had been a dry for 44 years and could not reverse himself. He also wanted to see the "religious issue eliminated from party politics."

Senator Ferris's health has not permitted his taking part in Senate activities for several months prior to his death.

The superlative achievement of Mr. Ferris's political career was his election to the United States senate November 7, 1922. It climaxed one of the most spectacular campaigns ever waged in Michigan. "Newberryism" was the Ferris battlecry, and he carried it to every corner of the state. It was the single wedge that could cleave the Republican rock that had withstood Democrats' assaults for three score and ten years.

"When I entered the race," Senator Ferris said afterward, "I had not the faintest hope of being elected. I felt that only a miracle could win for me."

However, I entered the campaign with all my strength, and decided to fight to the last ditch."

One of the points raised by Republicans against Mr. Ferris's election was his age, and this drew a prompt and characteristic reply from him. "If age and physical condition are to be issues in this campaign," he said, "I'll put on the boxing gloves with Mr. Townsend any time he wants to start."

A log cabin on a wooded farm near Spencer, Tioga county, New York, was Mr. Ferris's birthplace, January 6, 1853. It was a time, as he later said, when sewing machines and kerosene lamps were luxuries.

Young Ferris's early years were filled with hard work and schooling. The education was carried on, he said, with a degree of regularity that "defied storms and ordinary ailments." The first eight years of attending school he described as "the horror of my life." Yet he lived to become the founder of a school that has more than 20,000 graduates in the United States.

When he was 14 years of age the future United States senator entered Spencer Union Academy and from this point on his educational progress was rapid. There followed alternate periods of student life and teaching at rural schools. At Oswego Normal Mr. Ferris met Helen Frances Gillespie to whom he was married December 23, 1874, and a week later Mr. Ferris and his bride began teaching at the Spencer Academy.

A year later they moved to Illinois and established the Freeport Business College at Freeport, Ill.

There followed years of varying success in educational work, including five years during which Mr. Ferris was superintendent of schools at Pittsfield, Ill. They moved to Big Rapids, Mich., in 1884 and established Ferris Industrial School. Later Ferris Institute. The growth of the school from two small buildings to a $100,000 institution was gradual, but sure.

Mrs. Ferris taught for many years at the Institute withdrawing in 1901. She died March 23, 1917. Three sons were born to them one of whom lived but a few months.

Mr. Ferris married Miss Mary Ethel McCloud of Indianapolis, August 14, 1921.

Motor Vehicle Accidents and Deaths Increase

During February There Were 4,621 Accidents in New York State Which Resulted in 115 Deaths and Injuries to 5,532.

Albany, March 23.—Records of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles show that in February, 1928, there were 4,621 motor vehicle accidents in New York state, which resulted in 115 deaths and injuries to 5,532. This is an increase of 1,653 accidents and 39 deaths over the same month in 1927. Fatalities increased 36 per cent in February and 35 per cent in January, indicating that there will be a heavy toll in killed and injured unless preventive measures are adopted. A regrettable fact is that 18 per cent of those killed in February were children under 14 years of age.

In a statement issued today the statistical section of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles says: "We cannot dodge the responsibility which is imposed upon each of us to assist in the elimination of these needless accidents. The problem is capable of solution if common sense is applied by those persons who are contributing to the accidents. If motorists and pedestrians will concentrate on safety, accidents will be reduced. Pedestrians should observe traffic before dashing across the street, and where lights are installed cross with the signal. Motorists should also observe the lights and not cross on the red or try to beat the light as it is changing. Having the right of way will not restore a life or compensate for a serious accident. The motorist should realize that there is a serious obligation imposed upon him to drive safely, even though he happens to have the right of way. The old saying, 'It is better to be safe than sorry,' should be constantly in the minds of the motoring public. Rules of courtesy should be adopted by motorists."

"Another fact portrayed by the statistics is that 54 per cent of all serious motor vehicle accidents during February occurred at street intersections. These accidents resulted from motorists failing to observe traffic rules. The deaths and injuries were occasioned in many instances by violations of law or lack of caution by the victims themselves."

"Traffic lights must be obeyed. Traffic officers must be obeyed. If there is no automatic signal to act as

A guide, motor-car drivers should slow down and sound the horn as street intersections are approached.

"Local communities should study their traffic problems and work out plans to eliminate these accidents. Drivers should devote a few minutes each day to impress upon children the necessity of exercising care in crossing the streets and also the dangers attending the playing of games on the street. Children respect advice given by teachers and are guided by them. Accidents can be explained and demonstrated to show children what acting or how the accident could have been avoided if they had followed the rules of safety which have been laid down.

"Motion picture theatres can be of assistance by flashing safety warnings on their screens. Many children attend moving pictures, and a picture of how to avoid accidents will leave its impression on their minds. Newspapers by devoting space to safety can be of assistance in this problem. Publishing the number of accidents and fatalities is important, but of greater value is the explanation of how these accidents could have been avoided."

"Municipal authorities can contribute their share by providing playgrounds for children. If space is not available, during certain hours of the day streets may be roped off from which traffic is prohibited. Municipalities by studying their problem can determine what changes should be affected. It may be desirable to establish one way streets or to eliminate parking or to install automatic traffic control systems, or to employ some other means which will not only facilitate traffic but eliminate accidents. In some cities the authorities have utilized the members of the fire department as traffic officers during the hours when school children are being dismissed. The traffic officer can contribute his share by strict enforcement of the law."

"Courts can contribute their share toward solving the safety problem by imposing penalties which will be severe enough to make the motorists respect the law. Small fines are ineffective."

"The safety problem includes all of us. We, as members of our families, may be victims of a careless act. It therefore becomes essential that we all contribute our assistance to the solution of this problem. With the alarming increase of serious accidents during January and February it becomes all important that a concerted effort be made to reduce accidents for the remainder of 1928."

COMPLETES HALF CENTURY AS ACTIVE FIREMEN.

Attica, N. Y., March 23 (AP)—Andrew G. Keauss, who signed the charter of the Rescue Engine and Hose Company, the nucleus of the Attica Fire Department, in 1878, has just completed a half century of active service as a fireman.

During the 50 years of service he never was absent from roll call or yearly inspection. For 14 years he was chief of the department, but resigned from this position two years ago.

The Rescue Engine and Hose Company later became the Maplewood Hose Company. Finally it was merged with two other volunteer fire companies and became the present Attica Fire Department.

Cat Finds Only Bridge

How Bonzo, a black cat belonging to Bert Pierson of Hertz, England, found his way back home, is puzzling his owner. Pierson moved recently from Sheerness, on the Isle of Sheppey, to Hertz. The only means of access to the Isle of Sheppey is by way of the King's Ferry bridge. The cat found the crossing and traveled the 90 miles back to the old home, where he remained until found.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

WHITE COUSINS BID INDIANS TO REUNION.

Miami, Okla., March 23 (AP)—Indians in whose veins courses the blood of a white man, who, when captured by the Senecas 155 years ago, persuaded them to spare him and his sister from the scalping knife and later married a chief's daughter, will attend a family reunion of the sister's descendants.

William Spicer and his sister, Elizabeth, were taken prisoners by the Indians June 4, 1775, in the Great Lakes region. The sister was freed through her brother's diplomacy 18 months later, and subsequently married a white man, Thomas Bowen. Spicer remained with the Indians, marrying the daughter of the chief and later succeeding him as the head of the tribe.

Descendants of Thomas and Elizabeth Bowen will hold a reunion at Davistown, Pa., in August, and they have invited 50 members of the Seneca tribe who are descendants of Mrs. Bowen's brother, Alfred Whitecrow, the present chief of the tribe, who married a great-granddaughter of William Spicer, will take his wife and their children to Pennsylvania to see their white cousins.
